LONDON, July 9 .- The Standard says the policy of decomposition is already beginning to tell upon its authors and Lord Lansdowne one of the largest Irish territorial proprietors has resigned his the Cabinet and his resignation has been accepted. Rumors were freely circulated last night of other members of the government who had expressed invincible objection to the compenation for the disturbance bill. The Irish embers refrain from voting on the motion ed into Committee on bill, in conquence of the new interpretation of the easure by the Attorney-General.

The Standard's Berlin dispatch says he Chinese Charge D'Affaires at St. Petersburg has officially assured the Rusan government that China does not wish to go to war with Russia and that rumors operations by Chinese on Russian frontier are absolute inventions.

A Berlin dispatch to the Times says: "Turkish diplomatists continue to declare that the Porte cannot but regard the resoutions of the Berlin Conference as arbitrary, and that it is impossible to concede so large a territory. If the Sultan agreed to do so he would, on one hand, lose all prestige with Moslems, and, on the other, unable to pacify the different tribes in the ceded districts. The Porte will, therefore, very probably try to expostulate and shirk from carrying out the wishes of the powers by bringing forward new explanations. But the Porte must soon be convinced that the intentions of the powers are this time very serious and that the reopening of the Eastern question by war would certainly end in the total destruction of the Turkish empire in Europe. Nevertheless the opinion prevails in politcal circles here that the Porte will decline a accept the resolutions of the conference, and that it will be impossible to prevent blood-shed between the Turks and Greeks.'

Shot in a Bagnio.

DANVILLE, VA., July 9 .- Last night ut midnight Thomas D. DeJarnette enred a bagnio here and inquired for Mol-DeJarnette, an inmate thereof. #### GILDERSLEEVE'S LATIN SERIES.

B. L. Gildersleeve, Ph. D., Gottingen, LL.D., Professor of Greek in Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Rarely have text-books been greeted with so large a measure of favor and hearty apprecia-tion, as these books by Professor Gildersleeve have received from the best scholastic and edu-cational minds of the country. The author, now of national reputation as a scholar, has had very complete preparation for such a work. After being graduated at Princeton, he studied for several years in the Universities of Germany, where he received his Ph.D., etc., with highest honors. His subsequent life has been devoted to teaching and linguistic study. When the new and richly endowed Johns Hopkins University sought for a fit man for its chair of Greek, the appointment was conferred on Prof. Gildersleeve, after wide conference, and without his solicitation or effort, and his work as senior professor of the University attracts marked at-tention. He is also the presiding officer of the American Philogical Association.

Prof. Gildersleeve's Latin books are the product of this order of ability and educational training. Embodying the best results of recent studies in Latin philology, they are simple, clear and practical in method.

THE LATIN PRIMER.

THE LATIN PRIMER,
complete in itself, a naturally developed course for beginners, at once holds the interest of the pupil, and prepares him thoroughly for ready and intelligent use of Grammar and Reader, or Latin author. It supplies: "Maximum of Forms; Minimum of Syntax; Early Contact with the Language in Mass."

A teacher in one of the leading High Schools of the country, who conducted a large class through this book, writes:

"We have just finished the Primer, having spent upon it thirty-fo ir weeks; and I have been trying to realize my pupils' attitude towards the study, as compared with that of other classes I have known. They have the use of a larger vocabulary; their text-book has secured larger vocabulary; their text-book has secured for them a careful drill in the normal termina-tions; they have been brought more into con-tact with the language in the concrete, and have, therefore, a more vivid interest in it; and they have been less perplexed by exceptional forms and difficult construction.

"The book is thoroughly alive, and will perforce make its students so."
THE LATIN GRAMMAR is marked by its genuine scholarship, clear and logical arrangement of material, and a typography that pleasantly aids the eye. Its presentation of forms is plain and convenient; its definitions, rules and other statements are brief and pointed; and its translations of illustrative examples are most striking models for students.

amples are most striking models for students.

THE LATIN READER has Fables and Stories; "De Gestis Alexandri," a most interesting narrative, chiefly from Curtius; one book of Cæsar's "De Bello Gallico," treated in a manner to make it an admirable drill in Latin Syntax; also notes and References to the Grammar, and a Vocabulary. ences to the Grammar, and a Vocabulary.
THE LATIN EXERCISE-BOOK,

a book of Latin Composition, compact in form, is noticeable for its well-graded course of exercises, apt choice of idioms, and adaptation to train the average learner to a thorough mastery of the words and constructions of the language.

Holleman Building, RALEIGH, N. C.

The New Orleans Democrat fears that there is too great a tendency on the part of the Democracy everywhere throughout the Union to regard the nomination of HANCOCK as equivalent to his election. This feeling grows naturally out of the genuine and hearty enthusiasm which the nomination has evoked in almost all the States, and, while it is extremely complimentary to the nominee of the party, is apt to lead to a result precisely the reverse of that which every true patriot so joy-

The work of the campaign will be no child's play. What we have to contend with is a party which, as the New York Sun says, has been in continuous possession of power for twenty years. It has command of the whole machinery of the government of a standing army of more than 100,000 officeholders; of the vast and ramifying operations of the treasury; of the forty and more thousand postoffices; of the customhouses and of the internal revenue system. Some idea may be formed of the enormous amount of money handled under the direction of one man, and he unscrupulous as a political manager, when it is consid ered that the ordinary receipts and ex penditures last year aggregated five hundred and forty millions. Including the receipts from loans and treasury notes and the transactions in the public debt they exceeded two thousand millions The money market, the centres of trade and the productions of industry are all in a greater or less degree affected by the mighty power of the treasury, which Secretary SHERMAN knows how to wield for the benefit of himself and of his party The whole of this massive enginery wil be used to retain possession of office.

It would be supreme folly to think that a party wielding such powers would weakly give up without a fierce struggle. In the very nature of things, the contest will be severe one, and we shall see more for cibly exemplified than ever before the tre mendous cohesive power of public plunder. Led by able and shrewd politicians, whose bold and evil deeds in the past are sure guarantees of what they will attempt in the future, the Radical party will, beyond all question, make such a fight for the spoils of office as will call for all the endeavors of the rank and file of the Democrats of all the States. The one danger that threatens the Democracy is that which has been the cause of so many overwhelming disasters in this world-over confidence. This is the one thing that we must have the wisdom to avoid, the one rock upon which we must be careful not to let our fair ship go to pieces.

That we have immeasurably the advantage at the outset is true; the candidates of the Democracy are clean men, men whose characters, attainments and histories can bring no blush of shame to any American, and of which every citizen of the republic may justly feel proud; while the Republicans are handicapped by of exceeding bad repute. But through the thoughtlessness or folly of our adversaries won this advantage, let us not leave anything undone that can assure us the victory. Let Democrats organize thoroughly, and work incessantly to the achievement of the ished for end. After the triumph is full and complete, after we have by our votes seated Hancock in the White House, and have secured an increased number of Democratic Representatives in Congress. by manfully and laboriously canvassing every district, then will be time for popular rejoicing, illuminations and bonfires. But now, on the very eve of the great battle, of which we have won the preliminary skirmish, we must maintain and recruit our ranks and see that every man does his

And now how to do the work. This is to be done mainly in the township. And how it is to be done there may be learned from the experience of Governor JARVIS in Pitt, when, a new comer to the county, he redormed it from Radicalism in his canvass for the State Convention. The Governor always wins, and he wins by work. His manner of county work is thus stated by the Wilmington Star:

"He was chairman of the Central Com-The others were selected by himchoosing the best men he could He next selected the best manone who knew how to organize and workas chairman of a committee in each town-The township committees were very lly chosen.

Each township was sub-divided into two or more districts, and in each of these districts a sub-chairman was appointed over a small, active committee. The sub chairmen were required to report to the township chairman, and to operate under his directions. The townships all reported to the Central Committee through their respective chairmen.

pt. JARVIS had a secretary provided who made out a list of registered voters for every township. These were dupli cated as needed. Every township was supplied, not only with a list of its own registered voters, but with a list of every township that touched it. This prevented frauds which had been common in that

"What was the result? Scarcely a Democrat failed to vote, and hardly one fraudulent Republican vote was polled. At the preceding election a Republican-name forgotten-who had never been beaten in Pitt, was elected by over one hundred majority. It was thought he could not be defeated. But JARVIS taught him another lesson, for he beat him some 125 or 130 votes, according to our recollection. It was done by management-by actively canvassing-by thoroughly organizing.

"Let every county be organized thoroughly as JARVIS organized Pitt, and the State and Presidential tickets can be elected by full 40,000 majority."

THE GREENSBORO North State of yesterday says that "when Judge Fowle was Presidential Elector, in his canvass of this State he was in the habit of denouncing HANCOCK as 'the murderer of Mrs. Sur-RATT,' and many of his high-sounding phrases were rounded by allusions to the cowardice of hanging a woman. We understand that arrangements will be made to print this speech for circulation as a campaign document in this State and at the North." We think it very likely that such arrangements will be made. Mr. HAYES was made President by perjury; why not try to make GARFIELD President by forgery? Judge Fowle was not only not "in the habit of denouncing HANCOCK as the murderer of Mrs. SURRATT," but he has never denounced him for anything. The Judge does not claim to be the original JACOBS," but General HANCOCK has always been a favorite with him.

THERE ISN'T much of a campaign on either side yet and there is not likely to be much systematic work done for some time vet. The weather will have the field mostly to itself for the present. But while there is little real canvassing in progress, the people are doing a good deal of quiet thinking. The more they reflect the stronger will the Democratic cause become. Eastern North Carolina is indebted to the Democratic party for life itself. The West will soon feel the effects of great lines of railway completed. Both sections are now in the enjoyment of prosperity which, a few years ago, neither dared hoped for. There was then "nothing left to steal."

ATLANTA has had its first negro juror. who promptly joined in convicting a negro who was put on trial. The next prisoner was another negro, charged with murder, who strenuously objected to having one of his own race on the jury. There was another such case in Virginia some time ago, when a colored prisoner made the same objection on the ground that "niggers would hang a nigger just to see him kick." Whether this was mere self-libel. or was a great psychological truth, the re uctance of blacks to be tried by men of their own color remains an indisputable

THE DUTY ON COTTON ties is one cent and a half a pound-in other words, Amercan manufacturers can sell their goods for what British ties cost laid down in this country, and add as additional profit one cent and a half a pound besides. Why should the producer of cotton be compeled to pay a tax of one cent and a half pound to a ring of monopolists, when American manufacturers can compete with all the world on even terms? The duty on iron ties does not put any considerable revenue into the treasury; it is simply and wholly indirect robbery.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES at present consists of 293 members, divided as follows: 149 Democrats, 132 Republicans and 12 Greenbackers. The Republicans must gain fifteen seats above their present number in order to secure a majority. This is out of their power, if the Democracy will work hard and well. A large number of seats are held by Democrats and Republicans elected by a plurality or a small majority, and the Democrats ought to hold their own, and wrest some districts from the opposition.

THE WILMINGTON Review mentions a report in that city that Mr. GUTHRIE "will run as an independent candidate for Congress" in the Cape Fear District. We are requested by Mr. GUTHRIE to say that the report is without the slightest foundation. TURKEY AND GREECE have begun to arm with an earnestness that portends war. It will, of course, be suicidal for Turkey to oppose the fiat of Europe, but the nation which challenged Russia to war and lost Bulgaria and part of Armenia is capable of other blunders still.

WHEN CONGRESS PASSED a joint resolution reducing the duty on cotton ties that had been contracted for to 35 per cent. ad valorem, it put one million dollars into the pockets of the growers of cotton.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

NEW YORK, July 7, 1880. EDITOR NEWS :- My visit to the Presovterian Hospital on Monday was a failure -Dr. Phillips was at dinner, and of course would not allow him to be disturbed; and Col. Scales was not well enough to see any one, but I was informed that he had nad a more comfortable night.

Leaving the hospital, I passed into th Park, at 82d street, where I found the great "Art Museum," recently opened, a very massive and unsightly building outwardly, but beautiful and grand inwardly The most interesting and crowded portions were the galleries of paintings; but it would take a week or two, instead of the hour or two which were at my command. to see these as they should be seen. To me a museum always presented such a vast variety of curious things as to leave only a confused mass upon the mind; for which reason I generally avoid them, and did not even go to the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia, four years ago, about which all the world and his wife, especially his wife, were half crazy. People of clearer heads than mine, and with more time, may well visit this Art Museum, especially in company with some friend to talk to and to dmire or condemn, which friend was not with me on that oceasion. The picture that most fixed attention was "The Last Roll-Call of the Victims of the Reign of Terror," a large canvas on which many characters are painted, men meeting their fate with manly fortitude, whilst the wives and mothers whose husbands and sons were to be guillotined exhibit the terror and anguish inspired by the awful scenes of that I have assisted Major Bingham in have ng made six gold medals, at a cost of $10 each, to be bestowed as prizes to the best scholars in the Bingham School. Four of them had the name of E. B. McGilvary on them, the successful scholar being all the way from the kingdom of Siam, where his father, the Rev. D. McGilvary, a native of Moore county, N. C., is a Missionary of the Presbyterian Church. They were inscribed, respectively, "The Peters Prize,"

"The Price Prize," "The Venable Prize," 'The Price Prize," 'The Vance Prize." The fifth medal, "The R. Bingham Prize," was awarded to M. C. Williamson; and the sixth, "University of North Carolina," to C. B. Aycock. Such rewards to industry and genius are becoming general.

Mr. Sample, of Thomasville, and Colonel Beasley have favored me with calls. Col. Waddell has been pressed into service for a Hancock and English speech at Montpelier, Vermont. A friend in North Carolina, writing to his friend and mine here, says, "Mr. I --- and myself, as he may remember. served in the army together, that is to say, as members of the Home Guard, and helped to "take the Fayetteville arsenal. No member of our company was killed or wounded in that action, but I remember, when it was reported that some one had sisted on his bringing it along in case of accidents! I wish Mr. H- would write up his recollections of that battle for THE NEWS." And our mutual friend says, "I hope you will be ready to recount the valorous deeds alluded to by Mr.

Strange that my memory fails to respond this call for an account of any "valorous deeds" on my part. Not even does it tell me of the execution done by the "pocket pistol" which had been provided in case of "accidents." But there was a great gathering of the warlike claus of Cumberland, who promptly responded to the call to arms to take the first step in North Carolina towards the establishment of the Southern Confederacy. There were a thousand or two of citizen soldiers, headed by the wo splendid town companies, which soon afterwards departed for Virginia and participated, at Bethel, in the first battle and first victory of the terrible war which followed. The whole was under the command of Hon. Warren Winslow, who carried out the orders of Gov. Ellis to "take the Arsenal." No one who was in Fayetteville on that day can have forgotten the intense anxiety which pervaded he community. It was a few days after the issue of Lincoln's Proclamation which had united the State as one man to resist. The Arsenal was garrisoned by a company of United States artillery, regulars, splendidly equipped, and commanded by as gallant a soldier and as honorable a gentle man as ever drew sword, Captain D'Lagnel (his superior, Major Anderson, be ing confined to his bed by sickness). No one knew how far Captain D'Lagnel would consider it his duty to re sist the demand to surrender which was to be made, whilst no one doubted that he would do his duty, whatever he might conclude that to be. It was not a very military-looking body of men that marched up Hay street to the front of the Arsenal, but it was a very determined body, its feeling being well expressed by the swarthy Captain Bulla, who brought a large company from the swamps on the east side of the Cape Fear, who, when Capt. D'Lagnel went the rounds demand ng of each captain of a company how many men and how much ammunition he had, replied that he had "enough to capture the Arsenal." Fortunately, Captain D'Lagnel came to the conclusion that the laws of war would not justify him in resisting a force about thirty times as large as his own. So he stipulated for a surren der with all the honors of war, his flag to be saluted, and his men and himself paroled, with liberty to go where he pleased to carry them. And when he saluted his flag, with the regular and rapid firing of his beautiful brass battery, there was probably not a man present who was not struck with admiration, and who did not realize what havor he would have made in the ranks of the militia, and in the town which was spread out below him, if he had concluded to resist. Many thousands of anxious people-men, women and children, white and black-were inexpressibly relieved when the result was known. Capt. DeLagnel, with a nice sense of honor, carried his men to the North, delivered them to the proper authority, and then proceeded to Washington to resign his commission. He was there urged to remain, was offered promotion, but refused every temptation and went to Virginia, his native State, to enter into its service. In his first battle, (Rich Mountain, if I recollect aright,) he fought his guns till he was nearly cut to pieces, and throughout the war did noble service. He is now, as his friends know, purser on one of the great steamships on the Pacific. I cannot help mentioning that he did not go without a very large "pocket-pistol"—a regular four-pounder, provided by Mrs. H., of that pure stuff, which my old friend Col. Nick Williams was wont to provide for cases of "accidents." used to give 50 cents a gallon for it in those days, whilst in these internal revenue times it would cost six times as much Don't let your compositor print that word infernal. But enough for to-day. H.

A Model Farmers' Club.

[NEWS EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

JULY 8, 1880. In the year 1858, the farmers in the mmediate vicinity of the present village of Littleton, organized what has been known since that time as the "Pioneer Club." The constitution limits the membership to twelve; vacancies are filled by ballot; the meetings are held monthly, at the house of one of the members, when the club inspects his farm, which is to be reported upon at the succeeding meeting. Questions relating to agriculture are discussed at each meeting, such questions being presented at the previous meeting. Strict attendance is required, and the penalty for failure ranges from one to five dollars. The use of any kind of intoxicating liquor is strictly forbidden at the meetings, but the mos magnificent dinners are allowed and enouraged.

It was our good fortune to be present v invitation at one of these meetings on the 7th inst., at the residence of Mr. J. P. Leach, near Littleton, when the following question was discussed: "Would it not be economy to use more machinery and improved implements and less manual labor the prepartion and cultivation of our farms? It is needless to say that it was discussed intelligently and with interest, for the fact that the meetings have been regular and that these discussions have been a prominent feature during the past 22 years is ample proof that they are not stale nor uninteresting. Four of the members present belonged to the original twelve. Some of the many advantages of such an organ ization are: co-operation, mutual improvement, a knowledge of the best methods practiced, a constant cultivation of a desire to improve in all that pertains to the farm, and finally, though not the least important, the strengthening of those social ies so essential to our happiness.

We hope at an early day to furnish our farmer friends with a copy of the Constitution and By-Laws of this excellent organization, with the hope that their example may inspire others to imitate it.

Party Organization.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.] GREENSBORO, N. C., July 6. EDITOR NEWS :- I notice our Central Executive Committee have perfected their plans of organization for the Conservative Democratic party of the State, and this brought to my mind the subject of organization. Until recently I should have advised waiting until later-say until the beginning of fall-only because it would be hard to keep up the enthusiasm if kindled so early. And I think I am right in thus supposing, providing we were to get up much excitement so early. But I will suggest now, and hope you and our committee will join me in urging the immediate organization of not only every county. but every township in the State.

We are soon to enter a campaign, and do hard fighting, and surely it becomes us as wise men, to "prepare in time of peace for war." And not only so, there are large numbers of voters who are not rooted and grounded in the faith, but who float about as it were, from one party to another. Let us therefore organize early. and thus get as many of this class as possible upon our rolls, and by frequent meetings with them in our club, we may hold many of such, who, if we wait, may settle down in some other line. For be assured, the Radicals, feeling that their death struggle is coming, are going to-yea, are beginning now-to put forth every effort to strengthen their forces. Some of the officials here are to be seen buttonholing any and every one they think they can influence; and they will no doubt bring every influence to bear to carry their point. Money will be used lavishly, and when that cannot be had they will buy or draw some over by giving them offices. Although the party may not be permitted to hold them long (after the election), still, this powerful agency will, and has been, used. have recently heard of two wavering or unsuspecting Democrats who have been appointed store-keepers, and have of course given in their allegiance to the Garfish So let's organize, organize, and let us do

Greensboro, July 9, 1880.—Since my last I have to record the biggest rain (in so short a time) that probably ever fell here. FOUND FLOATING IN THE WATER. -At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon what hope still lingered that Captain J. F. Wilson was still alive was dispelled. Major Winder received a telegram from E. G. Ghio, Esq., Superintendent of the Seaboard Road, that the body had been found, and would be sent down to Norfolk on the steamer, "Lady of the Lake," reaching Portsmouth at 6 o'clock this morning. Mr. S. Y. Wilson, a brother of Capt. Wil son, and Mr. J. P. Pritchard, left Raleigh for Portsmouth last night. There they will take charge of Capt. Wilson's remains. They will carry them to New Hill, in this county, where they will be buried. A special train will leave this place Sunday morning to give Capt. Wilson's friends in this city an opportunity to attend the funeral. From gentlemen who were with Captain

Wilson on the trip which has ended so sadly, we learn that the steamer George Leary, from which he fell, was racing with a rival steamer, the Jane Moseley. About 2 o'clock a fireman reported to the watchman on duty that he had heard a keg or a man fall overboard. They went around to the place where the watchman had seen Capt. Wilson standing a few moments before. There they found a pair of shoes and a handkerchief. These they carried to the first mate, who was in charge of the boat. Nothing was known of all this until about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when Capt. R. H. Brooks in company with Mr. Crutchfield, an engineer on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, went to the Captain of the steamer and demanded that some investigation be had, when he was informed that the shoes and handkerchief were in possession of the mate. Capt. Brooks said that the mate must have heard the friends of Capt. Wilson inquiring for him. The mate was called, and denied having heard anything about it. Mr. Crutchfield said that it was very strange that a man standing within two feet of another who

him. To this the mate did not respond. From what we can glean we are satisfied that Capt. Wilson fell from the upper deck of the steamer, about thirty feet forward of the wheels. He either fell on his side or was struck by the paddle-wheels and was disabled, else, being a fine swimmer, he could have reached the Maryland shore, which at the point where he must have fallen is only about two hundred yards from the track of boats going up the Potomac. But this of course is only theory. The facts are not known, and the only lips which could have told them are

Since his manhood he had been in the employment of the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad Company, with all the officers and employees of which he was a great a favorite. He was married in January 1878, to a daughter of Mr. Bennett Jones, of this county, who together with one child lives to bemoan his loss. He was a member of the Baptist church and of Manteo Lodge of

A QUESTION ANSWERED .- In putting the name of A. M. We think we can answer the question for the delegate. If Garfield knows anything he would say: "Keep it, Gus; keep it, and use it; it's a d-d sight better one than you ever had before."

RESURRECTED .- The following diaogue took place last Wednesday morning. Mr. Bledsoe, the Moses who is to lead the Radical squad into the Red Sea, was passing through Cotton Row, when a well known Cotton Man hailed him:

THE MAYOR'S COURT.—One by one the cherished opinions of childhood fade. We learned with tears that Santa Clans was a myth; we gave up Mary and her little lamb with a sigh : and when the archæologists found that Christopher Columbus never lived but in fable, we said, "Cuss Christopher Columbus;" but hardened as we had become we felt a shade of sadness pass over us yesterday, when it was proven that for more years than we care to count we had been wrong in thinking that nothing on earth was as hard as a darkey's skull. And it was proven thus: a negro was walking home laden with a bag, in the depths of which reposed a tomato can. He met a compatriot of his race, color it is a good plan to train the yoursters and pr. vious condition, and between those two arose a feeling which gore and only gore could allay. With fatal aim nig no. one swung his bag aloft. It descended on the apex of nig no. two's cranium. The can was uninjured, but the darkey's skull was bursted. Hence these tears, and hence the binding over to court of the can swinger. The only other business before his Honor was a couple of drunks, who got of the city guard-house.

M. B. C. FRANKLIN COUNTY ITEMS:-

Franklinton, July 8, 1880.—We still have dry sultry weather with an occasional light shower extending over a small area and of only a few moments duration, yet corn and cotton look reasonably promising and trade here is quite good for the season. Dr. Cornelius Winston resigned the Mayoralty, and lawyer B. F. Bullock, Jr., was chosen in his stead. He will make a good Mayor.

Last Monday, while the excursion train attracted the notice of the by-standers by the lively manner that they exercised themselves with knives and razors upon their chan skins. In the evening the returned excursionists reported one dead: "killed with a secret pistol that made no noise," said one of the darkies.

Mr. John Anderson Ball reached here yesterday from Southeastern Georgia, where he has lived for the last twenty-five years. He reports the Democracy as buoyant with hope and the crops looking very fine and promising. Mr. Dallas T. Ward, the polite railroad conductor, will soon erect a brick store here between Wesler & Holmes and Ballard & Green's. All business houses close here at 8 p. m The clerks now joyously give themselves nocturnal airings.

MACON COUNTY NOTES :-Franklin, July 7, 1880.—Macon held a county meeting last week and appointed delegates to the Convention of the 8th Congressional District. General Vance is of Macon. The National ticket headed by General Hancock will be sustained by the Democracy of this county unanimously. Indeed the purpose here is to roll up next November the largest Democratic majority ever given in the county. These western people ook upon it as a great struggle for liberty. for equality, for the civil over the military, for honest government instead of rule by band of official thieves. In these considerations everything that is dear to the heart of freemen is embraced. Could a genuine patriot wish or wait for a higher notive to action, immediate action? Could the cry of the heroes of, 76 be heard, it would be action, reverberating through every mountain dell and valley, met as it would sweep through each mountain pass

GREENE COUNTY ITEMS:-

Hookerton, July 6, 1880.—This section was visited the past week by quite refreshing showers of rain, and cotton and corn have put on their best looks. There is decidedly the finest cotton crop in this county it has ever been my pleasure to look upon at this season of the year.

The gratification of our people at the nominations for Governor and President amounts to general enthusiasm. Mr. Deaver, of our village, has a chicken with four well-developed legs; a curious freak of nature. Our census enumerator reports five per sons of the respective ages 103, 93, 96, 90 and 88, out of a population of fifteen hundred.

The Odell Manufacturing Company, says the Greensboro Patriot, are now running 83 looms at their factory in Concord; 75 of these looms are used in the manufacture of plaids, and the remaining 8 are used in making seamless bags. The company will have another new spinning frame in operation in a few days. Statesville's population foots up 1,063, and 829 in the suburbs. Iredell's population numbers 22,706, an increase of 34 per cent. on 1870. The Landmark, which notes these facts, says that Iredell has a mulatto turning white, and Statesville a caged canary which has just hatched out an infant bird. The Kinston Journal says that corn and cotton in Jones look promising, and the county will make enough and to spare. Carteret's crops too are in fine order, and in Greene they are better than in years; rice experiments are turning out well. The late rains have given fresh vigor to Lenoir's growing crops. The Moore Index says that the population of Carthage township is 2,339, and of this number the village contains 364. An increase in the township for the last decade of about 600. The deaths in Carthage township during the year ending May 31st, 1880, was one for every 106 inhabitants. In Pocket the mortality during the same period was one for every 100 inhabitants.

The census returns of Moore county, says the Index, show an increase in population of fifty per cent. since 1870. most other respects the advancement will far exceed this per cent. In education and general intelligence the people have improved to a wonderful extent, while in morals the difference is perfectly wonderful. The tremendous progress in agriculture is a matter of surprise to the citizens themselves."

The Examiner says that "there is good opening in the town of Favetteville for the establishment of a tannery. The water supply is abundant. lots suited to the purpose can be obtained cheap, (either lease or purchase) green hides and tanning material abundant, with a good local market for the products of the tannery. A few thousands of dollars would establish here a permanent paying business. There is at present no tannery in or near this town.'

Moore county is looking up every way. undoubtedly the choice of the Democrats The Index says that "the North Carolina Mill Stone Company are shipping some excellent portable grist mills, with castings, hopper, &c., just ready for running. Nothing remains to be done only to put your engine or horse power or water power to work, throw on the band and go to grinding. They work beautifully, and the Company are receiving more orders than they can fill. The prices range from $225 to $350, according to size."

The stockholders in the North Carolina Railroad met at Greensboro on Thursday. Col. T. M. Holt, Messrs. M. L. Holmes and F. H. Fries and Dr. R. B. Haywood were unanimously re-elected Directors. Col. Holt was re-elected President, and P. B. Ruffin Secretary and Treasurer. A subscription of $5,000 to the University Railroad was authorized. The debt of the Company is $395,701.38-$21,284 less than last year. The general condition of and will be heartily supported. If wise the property is reported by Dr. Thomas D. Hogg, expert, better than he has ever seen it.

Will they do it with a faucet? The Moore Index says that, "a company of Northern men of foreign birth have secured a site in the vicinity of our sister town, Cameron, where, in a short time, they will have in operation a process for obtaining by distillation every valuable property contained in the pine. By this process is obtained two qualities of spirits turpentine-Nos. 1 and 2-an acid, oil of tar, pure tar, and illuminating gas, leaving an excellent article of charcoal. If this process will supercede the unsightly method of scarring the pines, it will result in a great saving of timber."

The Fayetteville Examiner corrects a statement that has been going the rounds about Fayetteville's population. It says that "the population within the present limits of Fayetteville is by the recent returns of the census enumerators 3,720. The population of the town in 1870, within the then existing limits was about 4,600. The decrease in population is ap-I have not heard the accurate returns of parent but not real. Of this number something more than four hundred are without the town limits of 1870, leaving nearly 4,900 within the limits as they then existed. The population of the town therefore instead of diminishing within the last ten years has increased."

STATE POLITICAL ITEMS:-The Statesville Landmark says that one of Hancock's soldiers lives there, always a Republican and one now, but he will vote as he shot, and hurrahs for Hancock. A writer in the Winston Sentinel suggests J. M. Clement, of Davie, for Congress in the 7th District. "A gentleman of unimpeachable private character, of fine talents, culture and eloquence, he would electrify the district and arouse it to an [Special Dispatch to the News and Courier.] FLORENCE, July 7 .- I called on Col. E. B. C. Cash, at 5 o'elock yesterday evening, at his residence at Cash's Depot, six miles below Cheraw, and had an interview of one hour with him.

Col. Cash said: Mrs. Cash had advertised Robert Ellerbe's property for sale. Messrs. Shannon and DePass obtained an injunction against the sale of the property on account of a judgment deed by Wienges whom they represented. They then instituted suit to set aside the judgment held by Mrs. Cash on four charges, one of the charges being fraud. The court decided the case against Mrs. Cash, on the ground of the informality of the judgment, but, at the same time, decided that there was no fraud between Mrs. Cash and her brother. As soon as the case was decided and there was no longer an issue of the question of fraud, Col. Cash and Capt. Ellerbe challenged Capt. DePass and Col. Shannon respectively. This was about the 20th of May. Shannon declined to meet Ellerbe on the ground that Ellerbe had no claims on him. DePass accepted the challenge, and agreed to fight first at DuBose's Bridge, in Darlington county, about the 25th of May. DePass, however, was arrested. Afterwards arrangements were made to meet at Wright's Folly, Anson county, in North Carolina, on June 3. DePass was arrested again at Chesterfield Courthouse, gave bond to keep the peace and was discharged from custody. Subsequently to this a correspondence was entered into between Shannon and myself. The first letter was addressed to me by Col. Shannon on June 11th, in which he intimated a desire to fight me. I declined to challenge him on the ground of inequality; he having been denounced as a poltroon and coward by Captain R. G. Ellerbe; but took the ground that a gentleman might, if challenged, fight his bootblack. Colonel Shannon replied by sending me a challenge on June 27. Arrangements were made for a fight at DuBose's Bridge, in Darlington county, on the 5th day of July, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock. The fight took place about halfpast 2 o'clock in the afternoon; Shannon's sscond having the word; Cash's second choosing the position; distance fifteen yards, stepped by the seconds; weapons regular duelling pistols. It was agreed bable candidate for Senatorial honors his District.

Honor was a couple of drunks, who got the regular 12 hours in the cool recesses his District.

Last Monday, while the excursion than may be put on as they do not head up so that the signal for firing should be given the regular 12 hours in the cool recesses was stopping here, quite a number of the city considerably, and there early as the cabbage. He has tried it for by the discharge of a pistol in the air, seems no doubt that such will be the case early as the cabbage.

Col. Shannon's second. Col. Shannon fired first, about the word "one," his ball taking effect in the ground about five paces in front of me, and throwing the sand in my face. At the time I thought I was shot. I fired between the words "two" and "three," there being a distinct pause between my shot and that of Col. Shannon. He staggered and was caught by his friend, Col. J. M. Cantey, and I am informed died in about five minutes. My second, Mr. W. B. Sanders, inquired of Mr. Johnson if he was satisfied, who replied that he was satisfied, and as well as I recollect used the words: "My God, what more could we ask." I was taken from the ground by my second, and my friend, Mr.

Waring. Col. Cash spoke without the slightest perceptible excitement, but with calmness and dignity. It is rumored that he sent word to the sheriff of Darlington county yesterday that he need not come to arrest him, as he would go down whenever he got a note from him.

CAMDEN, July 7.—Coroner Goodale held an inquest yesterday and to-day. The verdict of the jury was that, "from the evidence brought before us, Wm. Shannon came to his death from a pistol-shot wound, said pistol being fired by E. B. C. Cash."
Coroner Goodale immediately issued a warrant for the arrest of Col. Cash, directed to Sheriff Doby, who has transmitted the same to the sheriff of Chesterfield county for execution.

The Impending Crisis of the East.

[From the New York Herald,] One need not be a prophet or the son of a prophet to discern in such telegrams as have reached us from Constantinople, Athens, Scutari, Janina, Sofia and Philippopolis the signs of a coming storm. The indications are multiplying on every hand that the eternal "Eastern question" is about to be reopened, if indeed, it can be considered to have ever been closed, when Turkey openly declined to fulfil the leading obligations imposed upon her by the Berlin Congress of 1878. The Ottoman Porte has acted since that date as if its sole object in life were to falsify all the promises it had ever made, and alienate all the friends upon whom it had relied. In this effort the Porte has been eminently successful. Even Sir Austen Layard, for many years the most strenuous apologist for Turkey, has been forced to acknowledge that nothing but coercion can ever reform the Ottoman Empire. When the inevitable crisis comes, as it may within a few days, Turkey will literally have no friends. The European concert recently established at Berlin and the generally amicable nature of present relations between all the Powers forbid the idea that Turkey can find any ally ready to fight against the reunion of the two Bulgarias. the cession of Janina to Greece, of Dulcigno to Montenegro, or the advance of Austria upon Mitrovitza. This time the doom of the Turk will probably be sealed by the "bag and baggage" process so strongly in favor alike at London and St.

[Special to Baltimore Sun, 9th.] WASHINGTON, July 8.—The opinion of the Attorney-General that the President has the right to commission a person whose nomination was sent to the Senate, but unacted on at the time of adjournment, does not seem to be accepted as good law by any of the parties who would have to vacate, as so far as heard from they have all signified that they intend to hold the fort. The government has in the case of the United States District Attorneys for Alabama and Georgia directed all its officials in the States named to recognize the new appointees, and it is understood that they will sne out writs of quo warranto to obtain possession. The Virginia Readjusters. [Special to Baltimore Sun, 9th. WASHINGTON, July 8 .- The action of the Virginia Readjusters' Convention has naturally been a fruitful topic of conversation in political circles to-day. There seems to be no difference of opinion as to the result if the Readjusters' and the regand job work all kinds a specialty. ular Conservative electoral ticket are both kept in the field, and Republicans are very jubilant over the prospect of carrying Virginia for Garfield. Had any one else than Hancock been nominated at Cincinnati this would have made the prospects of Garfield quite promising, but the treachery of the Mahone party is of little consequence, as General Hancock will have plenty of votes to spare without Virginia.

EDWARDS, BROUGHTO & CO.

[From the Arkansas Gazette.] Abram Scott is a colored man, and the fact that he asked Cindy Smith to marry him is sufficient to indicate that Cindy's skin is colored, although, in Arkansas, a few colored men have so far forgotten selfrespect as to marry white women. Just before the time fixed for the wedding, Abram received notice that he had drawn two hundred dollars and a gold watch in a lottery, and that only fifty dollars were required in getting the package from the express office. Abram had never purchased a lottery ticket, but thinking that, as the mistake had been made in his favor, justice to himself demanded that he should take advantage of the freak of fortune, he went to Cindy and wanted to borrow fifty dollars. The girl had only fifty cents, a sum left over from cotton picking. "I can't 'ford to marry a 'oman what hain't got more'n fifty cents on such a 'portant 'easion. A man wid my prospects can't 'ford ter marry a 'oman wid sich lack of p'litical 'conomy.' "Abram," said the girl, "is yer done fergot yer vows?" "Is yer gwine back on de oman ob yer choice?" and the girl attempted to put her arms around the man's leathery neck.

"Git away; I's done wid yer. You would break any man's posperity.

Abram went away, and the girl brought suit for breach of promise; but in the meantime Abram married a widow, who to accommodate him, sold a couple of cows for fifty dollars. Going to the express office, he paid over the fifty dollars and received the package. He went down an alley and opened it. The package contained a roll of brown fly paper and a tin biscuit-cutter. He went back and wanted to fight the express man, but was arrested and taken to the lock-up. After working out his fine, he went back to his wife and told her that she had been the cause of all his trouble, and that he wouldn't live with her. About this time he received information that 'Cindy had fallen heiress to a couple of mules and a bale of cotton. He was greatly exercised over this, and, going to the United States Court and gaining admission to the Judge's chambers, he began spreading out his case.

"This is no place to settle your private affairs," said the Judge. "The United States is not very much concerned in regard to such matters. We are just now entering upon a campaign, and-"But dis is de court ob de freeman's Miss Giddigurl's school in the fall and her cook's gone off mad and she says she's almost tired to death and going to Swampscott next week and Miss Flirt is going to have Young Spoodlington after all and Miss Smith's going to give her a pair of bouquet-holders she says they're good enough for her she got them cheap up to Ragshop's and Miss Ferguson's got a boy lots of hair on its head and looks three months old everybody says and Steve Beaker's awful dissipated they say and that Lovewell girl's father ordered him out of the house and she's been taking on awful and declares she will have him and the Stiggenses have moved out of town and the Browns have lost everything and Miss Smith's bought a whole piece a whole piece of cotton cloth and"—. By this time the husband is asleep or has fled. A man could never make so much out of a week's visit. All he would remember would be that Brown's got a mighty pretty wife, or keeps good cigars, or some other equally inconsequential matter.

17 Murray Steet, NEW YORK. Who is Your Wife?

A COMPLEX CONUNDRUM COLLOQUIALLY

BY WALDORF H. PHILLIPS.

We beg leave to announce that we have published, under the above title, a very novel and remarkable work. It is, in the form of fiction, a humorous and powerful satire on Divorce Laws and their compli-cations. The author takes for his text a proposed new marriage ceremony, thus:—
"Do you tak, this woman to be your wife-rail you are divorced? "Do you take this man to be your husband—until you change your mind?
"Then, they whom I unite, let some Court put asunder."

The work is full of humor and keen sa tire; it is decidedly a most original and nevel addition to American publications, and it is confidently believed will prove the literary sensation of the year. Price, in paper binding, 50c.: in cloth, 75c. Can be had of all Booksellers and News Dealers, or will be sent, postage paid, upon receipt of the price, by the publishers. jel2-tf E. J. HALE & SON.

Total Premiums paid in 20 years, $607.20; Reserve on Policy in 20 years, $467.00; Accumulated Divilends in 20 years, $631.00—104 per cent.; Total cash value in 20 years $1,098.00—180 per cent.

You pay $30 36 annually for 20 years, and in case of death prior to that period, your heirs wil receive $1,000, which is certainly a very large return for the money paid. If, however, you live to the end of the 20 years, you will have two privileges, either one of which you may elect.

First—Terminate your insurance by withdrawing the total cash value of your Policy, $1,0 8 00, which is the amount of Second—Withdraw, in cash, your accumulated dividends, $631, which is 104 per cent. of the premiums paid, and besides receive a paid-up policy for $1,000, payable at death, upon which no further premium will be required, but, on the contrary, this paid-up policy will yield annual dividends.

There is no surrender or paid-up value to this policy until the expiration of the Tontine period. Thirty days' grace is allowed for the payment of premiums on this policy, but when taken, a fine or interest, at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, wi'll be required.

It affords me great pleasure in calling the attention of my friends and the public in general to the prominent position now held by the Equitable Life Assurance So-ciety of the United States, which I have the honor of representing. To obtain a full and perfect knowledge of the workings of this immense institution. I would respectfully refer you to the examination of the leaflet "Facts," lately published by the Society, and which is in general circulation, but I desire especially now to invite all those who have not yet insured, as well as those who are contemplating additional insurance, to examine carefully the operations of the "Tontine Lavings Fund Polcy," which are practically explained above. Those of my old friends I take it for granted are sufficiently satisfied that it is to their interest to carry policies of assurance, but there is a large number of young men no coming upon the stage of life who are o take our places, and who will require es pecially the aid offered by sound and wellconducted Life Assurance companies in providing against death as well as mature age. To all such is this plan of assurance particularly adapted. Many of these polirun are now maturing, and the results prove that no other plan of assurance can or ever has produced such faverable returns. Is there any young man from age of 18 to 30 who cannot afford to aside every year the small sum of $30.5 This amount will seure a policy of $1,000 payable at death and it is estimated that
